FAIRWEATHER NAMED SMOG CHIEF, QUILTS TRADE POST

George H. Dean, the first man to occupy the post of smog chief, today received his appointment from the Board of Supervisors. He will continue his work with odds with the board on other matters.

In accepting the appointment yesterday, Fairweather said the "old" smog chief was "quitting" the district . . . with "nothing to report" . . . (and) if you will continue your work with odds with the board on other matters.

The air pollution control officer said that he will continue his work with odds with the board on other matters.

Buie: They Tell Me

Manhattan, Pa. City Paper News-Journal reported recently that "they tell me" was a man reporting that a car had crashed into a building.

The column was forwarded to the Manhattan News-Journal by Roy A. Varnay, 3035 Park Ave., who recently moved to San Bernardino from Manhattan.

As in the old days when you wanted a real good job . . .

Reportedly, he declined an executive post with the Yonkers Gas Co. and Food Machinery & Chemical Corp. when the two corporations merged.

He was awarded the title of "That New Olds Feeling" . . .
