Zoo Gives Servicemen, Kids Free Admission

A new admissions policy for the Los Angeles Zoo now provides for free admission to servicemen in uniform and special discount admissions for groups according to Chester F. Hogan, Zoo administrator.

The policy, approved by the City Recreation and Parks Commission, relaxes the former admission provisions for children 11 years of age and under, school classes from kindergarten through senior high school; non-profit youth organizations, and young members of military personnel. Teachers and adult leaders of the youth and anti-poverty groups are also admitted free on the basis of one adult for each eight youngsters.

Classes are admitted at no charge during scheduled school hours. Teachers may arrange for their classes to participate in educational tours of the Zoo conducted by members of the Greater Los Angeles Zoo Association's Docent Committee.

Hogan said special tours and free admissions are also provided physically and mentally retarded youngsters and handicapped wishes from City, County, State and Federal hospitals and institutions. Counselors and leaders with these groups are also admitted at no charge.

He said the special discount coupon program was established as an aid to organizations wishing to plan group visits to the Zoo. The new procedure calls for a 75-cent discount on adult admission and 25 cents on junior admission. Regular prices are $1.00 and 50 cents, respectively.

No change was made in the availability of half-price tickets to groups wishing to purchase 100 or more.

Further information about the admission policy, tours or group visits may be obtained by calling be Los Angeles Zoo 664-6560. The Zoo is open daily, except Christmas Day, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Daylight Savings Time, and until 5 p.m. Pacific Standard Time.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Ever since the first cave man discovered how to make a fire, men have been trying to keep one going or to put one out. Nature starts some fires without any help, but most are direct descendants of that first cave man's discovery. Men start them.

Fire feels our homes through the winter, runs many of our machines, takes us where we want to go. If all the fires went out, our world would do more than become cold. It would virtually come to a standstill.

Fire prevention week came into being because of the other fires . . . the ones we keep trying to put out. They start because adults as well as children play with matches. They throw lighted cigarettes from cars in a fire easy . . . leave campfires smoldering . . . fall asleep on the couch while smoking. This week is an annual reminder of the heavy toll the human race has for misusing a benefit . . . and turning it too often into a tragedy.

City College Art Gallery Opens In Robbins Bldg.

The new Art Gallery at Pasadena City College will be on view with an exhibit of art works from Community Services classes called "Processes" when the Robbins Building is officially opened at a noon ceremony on Thursday, Oct. 16. The main address will be given by Dr. Catherine J. Robbins, president emeritus of PCC in whose honor the building is named, and tours will be guided tours of the facilities.

Chairman Lennox Tierney, who moved into the new facility last spring with a growing Art Department that had spent 45 years in the C Building, is pleased to announce that the Art Gallery has a director this year: Robert Jahnke, who will supervise the shows in the Gallery, which include paintings and collages selected by three recognized artists in the community from works done in the non-credit classes offered by the Community Services Division of PCC.

Jahnke, a PCC alumnus, received his BFA from USC and his MA from CSC Long Beach in graphic design. He has had a one-man show at CSC Long Beach and at Pasadena Art Museum of his painter's projects; a photo documentary on downtown Los Angeles.

Jahnke sees in the burgeoning art classes a search for values among young people and a creative search by talking an art class problem in depth in the field. He sees the Art Gallery as a fine opportunity to let all students a broader exposure to the field of art: drawing, painting, sculpture, ceramics, crafts and photography.

"Processes" is on view from Oct. 10 to 23 in the Gallery, will supervise the shows in the Gallery, which include paintings and collages

...so why Pasadena Federal?

As you can plainly see, all savings and loan associations in the Pasadena area pay exactly the same rate of interest, the highest permitted by law—5%, more than banks on passbook accounts. We all compound interest daily and pay it from the day of deposit to day of withdrawal. Accounts in all of these associations are insured.

Why, then should you have your savings account at Pasadena Federal Savings? There are many good reasons, but we think these are the most important:

Convenience. Our two offices are just minutes from anywhere in the Pasadena area and there's always plenty of parking in our big, easy-access lots. Or, save by mail and we'll pay all the postage.

Safety. Conservative management has made Pasadena Federal one of the strongest savings associations in California with reserves more than twice the amount required by law. Besides, accounts are insured to $15,000 by an agency of the U. S. Government.

Friendly service. We are local Pasadena people who have built this business on personal, friendly service over the past 35 years. If you like doing business where you're made to feel welcome, we know you'll enjoy our old-fashioned hospitality. Come in soon and see how friendly a financial institution can be.
