Supreme Court Kills Kidnaping Charges Against Farm Unionists

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The State Supreme Court yesterday ordered the Imperial County Superior Court to dismiss the parts of the indictment charging the unionists with conspiracy to kidnap following a labor dispute last February.

Robert Cotton Jr. and 22 others indicted by the grand jury contended that the lengthy indictment against them lacked sufficient evidence to support the charges.

The indictment grew out of an incident at the Joe Corona labor camp near Brawley last Feb. 9, when members of the AFL-CIO Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee picketed the camp in an effort to induce Mexican contract workers to join the strike.

In the ensuing fight at the camp Fred Corona and three workers in the camp were injured. Corona is a food contractor in this case.

The unanimous decision, written by Justice Thomas P. White, ordered the Imperial County Superior Court to dismiss the parts of the indictment charging the unionists with conspiracy to kidnap three of the workers and also to dismiss the kidnap charges.

The unionists also were charged with conspiracy to commit assault, trespassing on real property, assault upon Corona and the three workers, and with rioting.

The unionists contended that there was no planned conspiracy but that the alleged other crimes were the "spontaneous outgrowth of an unplanned altercation."

The high court said that "it does not seem reasonable" that the legislature in enacting the law against kidnaping "intended it's statute to apply to a case of assault or riot," such as occurred in this case.

Committee To Be 'Bigger And Better'

VICTORVILLE—More than 150 committee workers, county fair officials and guests caught an early look Saturday night of the Oct. 3-8 event.

Indications from all sides were that it will be "still bigger, still better."

Military Day, (Oct. 2), inaugurated last year, will feature marching bands, drill teams, aircraft and weapons displays in far greater profusion than last year, said Col. C. E. Tolhurst of George Air Force Base.

Colonel Tolhurst, project officer representing Brig. Gen. John A. Dunning, already has put in four months of efforts. The fair this year will have an "outer space" theme.

PLEDGE GIVEN

Summing up the community effort that goes into each fair, Frank Whicher, chairman of the general and mineral display, pledged that:

"We'll come and see your pigs, pictures and pastry. We hope you'll visit our display, too."

Fair directors named each chairmen of various departments and divisions at the annual dinner, served by the Work Relief Society, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, at the senior high school.

Among innovations this year are:

—Creation of three divisions, each based on enrollment, at the high school arts and crafts contest which has been a stellar success in recent years. Chaffey High, three-time winner, will compete this year, it was reported, but will be ineligible.

—A pageant type of horse show with a western setting for quarter horses, a Tevis Cup setting for Arabians and an Indian setting for Appaloosas.

TRACTOR DRIVING

—Combination of the tractor rodeo of National Orange Show and Ontario Junior FFA tractor driving skills contest.

—Hollywood celebrities during a new "radio day," slated Oct. 4, Wednesday, with a number of radio stations cooperating.

—Repeat of "Senior Citizens Day" with even greater numbers of elderly folk expected from the county.

Entries in the fair continue to cramp available space. Number of junior livestock entries has been limited this year. Number of senior livestock division has been eliminated this year.

Included in the military day program will be bands—from Barstow Marine Corps, George Air Force Base and Fort Irwin—drill teams from March and George AFB, a variety of aerial films and displays of current attempts to probe into space. Navy, Army and Air Force officials will be a part of the day, said Col. Tolhurst.

NO ADMISSION CHARGE

There will be no admission charge on Military Day. Gates open at 6 p.m.

Welcome at Saturday's dinner was chairman Frank Whicher, Chino, president of the board, 28th District Agriculture Association, in charge of public guests and the art department.

Decision Due On Ontario's 'Mule Car'

ONTARIO — The Ontario City Council will make a decision by Aug. 14 on the problem of where to put a replica of the famed Euclid Avenue mule car.

A group of citizens contributed approximately $700 to the city asking that it be used to build a pavilion on the Euclid Avenue parkway that would serve as a permanent exhibit for the Ontario-San Antonio Heights Railroad Co. mule car.

TO COMMITTEE

Asking for a recommendation as to the best location for such an exhibit, Mayor Daniel D. Mikesell referred the question to the City Council's Public Services and Facilities Committee.

Councilman William E. Paulin, committee chairman, suggested the possibility of placing the mule car on display on a cement slab encircled by a chain link fence on the City Hall lawn, near the northwest corner of the City Hall.

After surveying the situation, Mikesell said the council would make a decision by the next council meeting on Aug. 14.

He turned the $270 over to City Manager Harold Martin.

Muscoy Blazes Believed Arson

Arson is suspected in a series of four fires which flared up within two hours Sunday evening in the Muscoy area.

Continuing investigations with a definite individual and a vehicle description in mind are Detective Clifford P. Brown, of the sheriff's arson detail, Muscoy Fire Chief Earl L. Mather and Capt. Johnson, California Division of Forestry fire prevention officer.

The first of the calls, which kept the department busy most of the night before midnight, came at 5:15 p.m. when a house fire at 5473 1st Ave. was reported. When firemen arrived, the entire living room of the house was afire and the attic and roof were almost destroyed.

The house was vacant and had just been moved onto the lot. Firemen listed the owner as Mrs. Ruth Williams at 275 E. Foreman Ave., San Bernardino. No damage estimate was given.

Second call came at 10:35, when a 4 by 6-foot billboard at Farmer's Market, 1960 W. Highland Ave., reported on fire. Owner was listed as R. G. Shuey, 631 Magnolia Ave.

A wooden chicken coop at 2975 State St., was next, at 11:22 p.m. It was on the property of Mrs. Z. A. Young.

Final of the series came at 11:45 when Muscoy firemen doused a trash fire started on the right of way in front of the Muscoy Baptist Church, State and Nelson Streets.

"All four fires are believed to have been set by what I call a 'firebug,'" Detective Brown said yesterday. "The fires were all started in the same area and occurred close to each other in location and time."
